An article in on page A3 Friday contained incorrect information about a hearing on Thursday for Hassan Diab, who is facing extradition to France. Diab's lawyer, Donald Bayne, told the hearing that five words on a hotel registration card that are said to implicate Diab were written by an unknown writer, not by Diab's former wife. Diab is not part of his common-law wife's appeal of a ruling to send the contents of two of her, not his, computers to France. The hearing was held to determine whether evidence collected by Bayne challenging evidence submitted by French investigators should be admissible at a Jan. 4 extradition hearing, not whether the French evidence should be considered.

Shea Weber, not Ryan Suter, scored the winning goal for the Nashville Predators in Thursday night's game against the Ottawa Senators. Due to an editing error, incorrect information appeared in some versions of a story on page B1 Friday.
